The telegraphers are still "out," and the end is not yet. The "boys" are in good heart, however.

Carey, the Irish informer, was killed in mid-ocean, en route to Africa, whither he was fleeing to escape assassination at home. The deed was committed by a fellow-passenger, one O'Donnell, who had dogged him for that purpose.

An earthquake on the island of Ischia, in the bay of Naples, last Saturday night, killed and wounded over 4,000 people, and destroyed hundreds of buildings. Ischia is a famous health resort, and some Americans are of the killed. The shock came at 9:30 P. M., without the usual warnings.

Meeting of the M. B. A. at Sweet Springs.

SWEET SPRINGS, July 26, 1883.
Mr. Editor.—The above picture is a fair representation of the Sweet Springs Hotel, in Saline county, which, as you are aware, is the place selected by the Bar Association of Missouri for its annual meeting this year. To your correspondent, who remembers the land tenets and water courses of his native country, the country surrounding the Sweet Springs has special attractions; its plains being covered with grazing cattle and fields of all kinds of grain. And involuntarily one is compelled to exclaim, "This is a beautiful, most fertile land!" The beauty of the women of Central Missouri, of which I had heard a good deal—aye, so much as to remark at one time to a friend, who most enthusiastically told the most marvelous instances known to him to be facts, that if all he said about this matter was true, I should be compelled to believe that the Paradise of our first parents must have been in this part of the State; to which he replied, "Well, come and see for yourself." Well, Mr. Editor, I did come and did see, and also did find that to see was to be convinced. Not that beauty here is more lovely than that of Southeast Missouri; for they, indeed, appear in beauty so lustrous, so esthetic, as to deserve all that poet or bard may rhyme or sing on the subject, and then they should fall far short of doing justice to our own dear wives and daughters. But the ladies here have a peculiar kind of enchanting beauty, which is still enhanced by a certain modest and retired conversation, which has also often been remarked by visitors as one of the most lovely attractions of so many ladies in the Arcadia Valley.

Well, Mr. Editor, this is a most interesting subject to me, and so I have written a great deal, and could write many more lines and pages, without exhausting the subject or doing justice to it—but, if you differ from me on this point, well, just tear this up and put it in the waste-basket; otherwise, you may publish it—postscript and all.

The Sweet Spring is really a remarkable spring, and, as it is claimed, possesses some very strong medical properties; but to tell you the truth, sub rosa, I prefer the bubbling waters from the springs around the Arcadia House and the whole Arcadia Valley a thousand times for daily use, whatever may be preferable in case of sickness.

The Missouri Bar Association met at the hall of the Sweet Springs Hotel on Wednesday, July 25, at 10 A. M., and adjourned this (Thursday) evening at about half-past six. The President, Hon. J. H. Shanklin, delivered a very full opening address, calling the attention of the Association to the new laws, and amendments to old laws, passed by the Legislature of Missouri, and also of other States, since the meeting of the Association last year—a duty required of the President by the Constitution and by-laws of the Association. He also touched upon many other subjects of general interest. After this, the election of new members took place, and from the 26th Judicial Circuit Judge John L. Thomas and Mr. W. R. Edgar were duly elected. Judge Thomas was afterwards elected one of the Vice-Presidents of the Association, and Mr. Edgar a member of the Local Council. Capt. Zwart was re-elected a member of the General Council. After the reading of reports from officers and committees, a paper was read by Alex. Martin, of St. Louis, on the subject of "Codification," which was well read, and received with marked favor. This closed the proceedings of the first day; and this morning the following gentlemen read papers on the subjects stated, to wit: Luther T. Collier, of Chillicothe, on "The Legal Profession, Its Duties and Responsibilities;" Judge C. G. Burton, of Nevada, on "Service by Publication;" A. Comingo, of Independence, on "Evidence in Mitigation of Homicide;" and John E. McKelghan, of St. Louis, on "Principle vs. Case."

All these papers showed great industry and correct legal reasoning by their several authors; but the last paper struck me as the best of all, and shows Mr. McKelghan to be a lawyer of learning and inflexible principles and integrity.

After the election of officers and the transaction of miscellaneous and unfinished business, which included an endorsement of the amendment to the Constitution for the relief of the Supreme Court, the Association adjourned, and its action became a part of history.

Last night a banquet was given by the Association, wherein most members took part, and at which Judge R. A. Bakewell was one of the most prominent speakers, in answer to a toast, "The Court of Appeals." Our old-time friend, Chas. T. Mansur, of Chillicothe, also made an eloquent address, as I am informed—for having lost considerable sleep the two preceding nights while on the road, I felt too tired to attend.

One of the most prominent features of Sweet Springs Hotel is the bathing rinks—one for the ladies and another for the gentlemen. The water thereof is very strongly impregnated with sulphuric gases and of a bluish color; it has a strong, saltish taste. Maybe at some future time I will, if agreeable to your readers, give a more extended description thereof. For the present let it suffice to say that the inviting appearance of the water was too much of a temptation for me to withstand; and for a half hour I was cutting up shins in the water to my soul's delight. The best swimmer in the rink, however, was Judge Bakewell, whose exploits as a diver earned him the title of the "Boss Swimmer." The grounds surrounding the Hotel are really beautiful—but, on the whole, Arcadia Valley bears off the palm for the beauty of its scenery and the coolness of its atmosphere.

Many attorneys have their wives with them. Amongst the ladies known to your correspondent, and whom he was happy to see, was Mrs. Bakewell.

Being a special correspondent, I have written hurriedly specially with a view to record my own impressions, leaving it for you to determine whether or not it will suit you and please your readers: if it does, all right; if it doesn't—well, then I don't know what to say. But do as you think best.

P. S.—Don't you tell my wife that I wrote this, and don't give my name; but you may put all the blame on B. ZWART.

No More Counting In.

When the people voted freely, choosing Tilden and reform,
And the poor Ohio weeping sobbed and bent before the storm;
When the record showed so clearly what the sovereign voters said,
And the party of corruption scattered ashes on its head;
Then did Chandler, William Chandler, like Leonidas the Greek,
Dam the torrent of disaster with his all-sufficient check.

Then his party rose to back him, and his bosom swelled with pride
As they marvelled at the ease with which the grand old party lied.
Then its leaders soon recovered from the fearful shock and fright,
Saying that the foolish people clearly had not voted right.
So they stole the votes, and changed them, till the shameful deed was done,
And the poor Ohio weeping meanly sneaked to Washington.

When New Hampshire's Legislature voted through the summer days,
Who was there to do for Chandler that which Chandler did for Hayes?
Who was there who would endeavor to avert the trickster's fate,
Spreading an enormous falsehood like a blanket o'er the State?
Who was there to falsify the public record of the votes,
Cramming Chandler down the swindled people's most reluctant throats?

Retribution, William Chandler, is the word that you must spell;
Fraud returns to plague its authors, as so many know so well.
You are tangled, William Chandler, in your snarly skein of sin,
And the conscience of the voters will not let them count you in;
For the people of New Hampshire just at present seem to seek
Something more than cunning, and a great deal more than cheek.

University of the State of Missouri.

COLUMBIA, Boone Co., Mo., July 5, 1883.

To the Clerk of the Iron County Court:

SIR—It is my duty to inform you that, under the provisions of an act of the General Assembly, approved April 1, 1872, [vide Session Acts, 1872, pp. 108-9, and Rev. Stat. 1879, Sec. 7267, 7268,] your county is entitled to send to the departments of the State University at Columbia and Rolla, during the year ending July 1, 1884, three students, between the ages of sixteen and twenty-five years. Under the rules adopted by the Board of Curators, students "shall possess a good moral character, and shall pass a satisfactory examination in orthography, reading, writing, arithmetic and geography;" and must pay the fees prescribed by said act, to wit: On matriculating, an entrance fee of ten dollars, and contingent fee of five dollars; and a like contingent fee at the beginning of the second half year, making the whole annual charge twenty dollars; which must be paid by every student, except regularly ordained ministers of the gospel, belonging to any of the various religious denominations in this State, and indigent young men preparing for the ministry. For the schools of Law and Medicine and Engineering, the annual charge is forty dollars, each. The session of all the departments, under the presidency of Samuel S. Laws, LL.D., will begin on the Second Monday (10th) of September, and will continue until the first Thursday of June, 1884—except that of the school of Mines and Metallurgy at Rolla, which will begin and end one week later.

A ample provision has been made for the care of young women in all the classes of the University, and a course of study specially adapted for them has been adopted. See catalogue 1883-84, pages 61 to 64.
I beg to call your attention to the appended extract from the law on this subject. You will please, after giving two weeks' publication to this certificate, transmit to me, on or before September 1st, a list of the names of all the youth of your county who intend to make application for entrance into the University at the commencement of the next session. If such a list is not transmitted, students from other counties will be allowed to enter in lieu of those to which your county is entitled. Board can be had in clubs in the college building for male students at $2.25 per week; in private families at $3.00 to $4.50.

I am very respectfully, your obt' serv't,

ROBERT L. TODD, Secretary

Board of Curators University of Missouri.

"The Secretary of the Board of Curators shall cause to be transmitted to the Clerk of each County Court in this State a certificate, stating the number of pupils that such county is entitled to send to the State University the next scholastic year, which certificate shall be published by each County Clerk for two weeks, in a newspaper published in such county. The expense thereof to be allowed by the County Court and paid for out of the County Treasury."

Persons desiring to enter the State University at Columbia or Rolla, are required to make known their intention to me on or before September 1, 1883.

Catalogues of the University can be had on application to the University Librarian, Columbia, Mo., or at the office of the County School Commissioner. G. B. NALL, au2a3 Clerk County Court Iron Co., Mo.
